

- Each feature is pushed to develop after they are completed for acceptance and unit testing.
- Once the website is complete and tested, we will push it to main as our last commit for this project.
- The branches that are labelled for each feature is deleted after they meet our DoD.
- Please note that, although every circle is a commit, we have more commits.